Manager Glenn Guise, in announcing the show, said today that the new truck is the first completely redesigned vehicle put out by the Ford company since before the war. While hundreds of thousands of trucks were produced after V-J Day the same designs as were set up in 1942 were used in order to speed production.

Door prizes will be given January 24, Guise added, based on those who attend during the period beginning Friday.

Design New Cab

One of the top features of the new Ford truck is the new cab, Guise said, with the company spending more than $1,000,000 in "developing a better cab." Better ventilation is provided, better visibility is secured and movable seats are available in order to make driving more comfortable.

The streamlined vehicles also boast newly designed wheels which permit much easier maintenance. As an example, Guise said, the new wheels permit inspection of brake lining without removing the wheel.

With the motor as well as the entire vehicle redesigned, the new Ford gives better and more economical performance than ever before offered by Ford trucks, Guise added. The Adams County Motors has been Ford distributor here since 1940. Guise joined the company as manager in 1945.

OFFICIALS AT
CAPITOL LAUD
LOCAL POLICE

New safety calendars being distributed by the Gettysburg Police department are attracting much favorable comment.

"I believe that the 1948 calendar, as well as the one for 1947, each of which shows a scene where a reckless motorist has injured or killed a little child, is very effective, and I have it in my office where it can be shown from time to time to reckless motorists," wrote T. E. Transeau, director of the State Bureau of Highway safety, to Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster.

One of the local calendars was sent by Chief Harpster to Mr. Transeau, through the courtesy of Maurice W. Stansbury, of Gettysburg, an employee of the State department.

Lauds Slogan
In his letter, Mr. Transeau continued: "The slogan 'The Wreckless are Never Reckless' I consider to be very effective, and a great deal of credit should be given the safety-minded business people in your community who have contributed to make the distribution of this calendar possible."

Sponsoring the distribution here are the Prosperity Dry Cleaners, Blue Parrot tea room, Adams County Motors corporation and Reaver's taxi service.

More Compliments
A letter to Chief Harpster from Arthur G. Burgoyne, executive assistant and director of public relations, Department of Revenue, said:

"I saw one of your department's calendars in the office of the director of highway safety and was greatly impressed by it. The safety feature emphasized in your calendar is quite impressive. I am interested in that because in my capacity as assistant to the secretary I supervise most of our safety activities."

"Incidentally I want to compliment you on the initiative and energy of your department in highway safety activities. This is the kind of cooperation that is going to help cut down the casualty toll."

MAY DISPENSE
WITH GRID TIES

New York, Jan. 14 (AP)—The much reviled, but very durable extra point will be on the spot again tonight when the National Football league's rule makers huddle here as a prelude to the circuit's annual business sessions.

Less than a week ago elimination of the point-after-touchdown was one of the proposals laid before the rules committee of the American Football Coaches Association.

The college tutors decided the long-established feature of the grid sport shouldn't be tampered with. Now a stout move, led by Commissioner Bert Bell himself, is afoot in the National league to dispense with the extra point and substitute a "sudden death" method for ending the games.

The professional football player must never forget that the spectator is paying his salary," Bell commented. "That's why the rules should be amended to eliminate all chances of the games—let the game continue until a team wins it, not by an extra point, but by a field goal, safety or touchdown."

The league's club owners will begin a four-day business meeting Thursday. They are scheduled to map the 1948 schedule, consider a bid by San Francisco for a berth and discuss the proposed professional football shrine at Latrobe, Pa.

STUDENT ADMITS
SETTING 2 FIRES

Setingsgrove, Pa., Jan. 14 (AP)—A Susquehanna university freshman, who had been voted "most likely to succeed" on his graduation from high school, is charged with twice setting fire to the college administration building to avoid attending classes.

The student, Joseph Sladek, Jr., of Wildwood, N. J., was held for Snyder county court Monday after pleading guilty to arson charges before Justice of the Peace Fred M. Machmer.

A fire last November 3 caused $100,000 damage to the 90-year-old college building known as "Old Seulingsgrove," and a second blaze yesterday resulted in slight damage.

District Attorney Horace W. Vought said Sladek, who was arrested a few hours after the fire yesterday, made a statement that he believed he could avoid attending classes by setting fire to the building. Sladek had been voted "most likely to succeed" by his fellow high school students, Vought said.

Jerusalem, Jan. 14 (AP)—An authoritative source said today the Palestine government has asked the Christian, Moslem and Jewish religious communities to declare Jerusalem's ancient walled area an "open city" as bloodshed continued in the Arab-Jewish warfare.

Paris, Jan. 14 (AP)—Communists resumed a bitter fight today for the vice-presidency of the French National assembly, charging that attempts to deprive the largest single party in the assembly of that post would be unconstitutional.

Around
The Town

Gettysburg was just lucky on that weather forecast for snow Tuesday night. Most of the state's highways were ice-covered today with snowfall up to six inches.

The first sale list for 1948 appears in today's issue of The Gettysburg Times and will be taken by some as a harbinger of spring.

John Peters, one of the county's best fruit men, was telling a group at the Soil Conservation meeting recently: "I remember about 30 years ago, farmers around here laughed at anyone who would go to the county agent for information. You sort of had to sneak in and see the Agriculture extension agent without anyone seeing you if you wanted information, because your neighbors would never let you forget it. Now every worthwhile farmer uses the services of the extension association."

Your favorite newspaper's 25 years ago column noted the other day that a committee had been organized to see whether a community building could be constructed. Who said times change?

Property Transfers

Maye O. and Mervin T. Cluck, Cumberland township, have sold to Harold W. and Eleanor Culp, Gettysburg, a property on Grandview Terrace for $7,500, according to a deed recorded at the office of the county register and recorder.

Another deed shows the sale of a lot in Germany township by Annie E. Swope, Carroll county, Maryland, to Harold S. and Esther L. Angstead, Hanover.

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today vigorously opposed requiring the 16 Marshall plan countries to use their dollar holdings in this country to help cover costs of the $6,800,000,000 European aid program. "It would be folly" to force them to do so, the secretary told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Vets Assured Of Service In States

Veterans who returned from overseas after September 2, 1945, can now re-enlist for three years of duty with units stationed in the United States and be guaranteed continued assignment to the outfit of their choice according to a recent announcement by the Army and Air Force Recruiting Service headquarters in Hanover.

The new change in recruiting regulations lists eight different divisions from which the veteran can choose including the famous 9th division now stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., and the 82nd Airborne stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C. Openings exist in several armored divisions and an engineer special brigade as well as in infantry divisions.

Individuals enlisting for these divisions will be sent directly from the recruiting examining station to the units of their choice for a refresher training course and then be assigned to duty. The veteran can enlist for a period of three, four or five years but will only be guaranteed assignment to the unit of his choice for a minimum of three years.

Guests Flee Fire
In Hotel; One Dies

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—One person was killed and another injured early this morning in a four alarm hotel fire four blocks from the White House. The dead man was identified as W. O. Hickox of Cleveland, Ohio.

Harold Sill, 49, a resident of the Potomac hotel's fifth floor, was admitted to Emergency hospital with second and third degree burns. His condition was described as "good."

Fire officials said the blaze—which was under control a little more than an hour after it started—was confined to the top floor of the old six-story building, which is located on Pennsylvania avenue west of the Presidential mansion.

Most of the hotel's occupants were driven into the street by the pre-dawn fire, which developed little visible flame, but a great deal of smoke.

To Teach Lesson
To Stranded Cat

Philadelphia, Jan. 14 (AP)—John Fortune's cat is stranded up the 60-foot poplar tree in front of his own home again and Fortune isn't going to do a thing about it this time.

Five times in recent weeks the animal has climbed up into the tree, Fortune said yesterday, and each time the cat had to be rescued.

"I don't know why he does it," said Fortune—a barber, "I think maybe there's a bird nest up there. He goes after the bird and then can't make it down again."

"Guess I'll let the cat stay up a while longer. Maybe he'll teach himself a lesson. This cat is really dumb."

Philadelphia, Jan. 14 (AP)—Eugene Curzio, 42-year-old beer salesman, whose trial as a dealer in counterfeit ration coupons was delayed two years, has been found guilty by a United States District court jury. Curzio's trial was postponed seven times because his attorney—Representative Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said he was "too busy with affairs of state."

GANDHI ENDS
FIRST DAY OF
'PEACE' FAST

By G. MILTON KELLY

New Delhi, India, Jan. 14 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi finished the first 24 hours today of his new fast for communal peace in India and Delhi, hard at work with dictation. Only once did he report unusual weariness.

He sent word through his doctors to the Maharajah of Patiala, India's foremost Sikh Prince, that he was too tired to receive him.

Gandhi's doctors, Sushila Nayyar and Jivraj Jehta, said Gandhi had a "fairly good night."

Works on Newspaper

"He got up at 3:30 a. m. for his prayers as usual," they said. "After the prayers he lay down again and has been resting since and dictating to his weekly 'Harijan'—his newspaper."

As he passed the 24-hour mark at 11 a. m., Gandhi could be seen lying on his bed on the lawn in front of his quarters at the mansion of G. D. Birla, millionaire industrialist.

Gandhi conferred from one to five minutes each with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Home Minister Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel of India. Spokesmen said they discussed means of bringing about "heart unity" of Hindu, Sikh and Moslem—the object of the fast. Gandhi insists a peace imposed by military and police force will not be enough to stop him from starving.

Friends Get Busy

Physicians watched his condition closely and did all they could to conserve the strength of the little Hindu patriot, once more placing his life in the balance for his people's welfare.

His friends decided yesterday when he started the fast that nothing would induce him to stop except to convince him that peace had been restored to this capital city and that the spirit of peace was fanning out into the rest of the country.

Promptly they set machinery moving to do this, fearful lest the weakened reserve of his vitality would fail under the fast before they could accomplish the task. Gandhi is 78.

He has thousands of followers in the Indian subcontinent, divided into the British dominions of India and Pakistan last August and torn before and since by bloody communal riots among Hindus, Sikhs and Moslems.

Eisenhower May Lose GOP Regulars

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may risk any chance for the ultimate backing of regular Republican organizations in several states if he fails to stamp out the independent Presidential draft movement now underway.

The Army Chief-of-Staff has said several times that he has no interest in politics. But thus far he has not otherwise repudiated moves by the Draft Eisenhower League to put delegates into a number of GOP primaries.

While this move has the backing in New Hampshire of Senator Charles Tobey, Eisenhower enthusiasts elsewhere seem likely to be drawn from persons outside of and often at odds with the regular GOP organizations in the states concerned.

As a case in point, one Republican in close touch with the situation said privately that Eisenhower has a better-than-fair chance for dark-horse support from the powerful Pennsylvania Republican organization at the June Philadelphia convention. But, this party member added, the general may forfeit that chance if he does not disavow immediately a move in his behalf there.

'UNCLUTTERED'
LOOK IS NEWEST

Los Angeles, Jan. 14 (AP)—California's fashion stylists unveiled Tuesday the "uncluttered look" for mid-late spring and summer wear.

That's a modified "new look" in women's clothing, displayed by 130 manufacturers of California Apparel Creators' at a show sponsored by the organization.

"There is a new simplicity about the spring and summer styles," a spokesman explained. "A casual air that has a simplicity of sweep, an uncluttered look."

"From the first Victorian trend and a slightly Rococo look, the 'new look' has adjusted itself to the streamlined age and developed a new casual grace, a soft femininity without exaggeration."

"Without exaggeration" means skirt hemlines are 12 to 14 inches from the floor instead of longer, not quite as full as heretofore but retaining a "provocative swish."

"A girl can get on and off a street car with them," was one stylist's explanation.

The "exaggeration" still applies to low necklines for evening clothes, however. They are "very deep," the more daring ones terminating at the midriff and some of them with a "fill of nude (flesh-tone) lace."

Necklines are high and close on sportswear, off-the-shoulder for patio and play clothes.

Colors are more subdued "with a definite leaning to all tones of white, a rich creamy banana yellow copper and redwood."

Friday's Games
Mechanicsburg at Gettysburg.
Chambersburg at Hanover.
Waynesboro at Hershey.
Shippensburg at Carlisle.

In a game marked by tight defensive work on the part of both teams, the Gettysburg high Maroons chalked up their fifth win of the season Tuesday evening by easily disposing of Shippensburg high on the latter's court 32-17 to keep right at the heels of Chambersburg and Hanover in the South Penn circuit.

Coach Forney's side went out in front 7-2 in the first quarter on a pair of goals by Donaldson and a twin-pointer and foul by Bushman. J. Angle's goal was the only Greyhound score.

Attacks Bog Down
Scoring was at a minimum in the second period, Leonard Sites netting two double-deckers for the locals with Fair adding a free throw. Bennett and Lynch landed goals for Shippensburg, as the half ended with the Maroons on top 12-6.

A pair of goals by Elsenhart, a goal and foul by Fair and a free throw by Donaldson enabled the Maroons to lead 20-12 going into the final period. During the third quarter J. Angle landed a goal and foul and Lynch contributed three fouls for the Greyhounds.

The Gettysburg offense speeded up somewhat in the last period as both coaches showed their reserves into the lineup.

Jayvees Triumph
Coach Howard Shoemaker's Maroon reserves put on a fast finish to top the preliminary 35-22. Ken Deardorff accounted for 19 points for the victors.

On Friday evening the Maroons will meet Mechanicsburg here in another league contest.

NEW OXFORD HI WINS OVER B.S.

The New Oxford high school boys took over first place in the Adams County Basketball league by defeating Bolling Springs in a tight defensive game Tuesday evening at Bolling Springs 17-11.

After the Bubbler held a 6-5 margin at half time Coach Flegel's outfit took command in the second half. Horner took the scoring honors with 10 points.

A flip of a coin decided the preliminary game in favor of the Bolling Springs girls 26-25. New Oxford led 25-24 in the last seconds when a Bubbler lasso connected for a goal. A debate arose as to whether the time had run out before the goal was made and it was decided to toss a coin to settle the argument.

New Oxford will be host to York Springs Friday evening.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

JUST SIMPLE FAITH

None of us can solve the riddle of life. But each one of us can determine to meet every demand made upon us to do the best that we can to make all life worthwhile, and help others to join in doing the same.

I have been reading a most remarkable book by W. MacNelle Dixon, called "The Human Situation." I consider it one of the greatest and most inspiring books that I have read. It is not an easy book to read, though it is written in a most pleasing literary style. It covers a vast field of scholarship, and the great philosophers of the ages have been called to testify as to the humane situation in the world, and as to their views upon the ultimate destination of the soul after death.
And he quotes from Wordsworth's creed, as follows:

"Tis my faith that every flower Enjoys the air it breathes—"

From Socrates and his contemporaries, to William James, these are the witnesses that Dixon calls to testify to the fact that death does not end all—that simple faith will allow no other conclusion.

"That man," said Goethe, "is dead even in this life who has no belief in another." And even Schopenhauer said: "In the furthest depth of our being we are secretly conscious of our share in the inexhaustible spring of eternity, so that we can always hope to find it again." And Dante wrote: "Of all brutal opinions that is the most foolish, vilest, and most pestilent, which holds that there is no life after this."

So it would be a miracle to be transported into a future life, after this earthly allotted one? Well, isn't life itself a miracle? Isn't nature filled with miracles? Nature delights in them—but more—the supernatural! Who creates and paints the exquisite colorings of the birds and flowers? Who placed the stars in their place, and designed the snowflakes?

"God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb." So, too, does He awaken us to simple faith—the guiding light to our little rest in the grave—and then beyond!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Taxi! Taxi!"

"SOME FINE DAY"

This the mother used to say:
"I'll go traveling some fine day.
Some fine day I'll sew no more,
Cease to dust and sweep the floor;
Get myself those pretty things,
Diamond brooch and brilliant rings;
Sit and dream the hours away.
Not right now, but some fine day."

"Some fine day!" and there we were,
Taking all our needs to her.
"Go away a week or two!"
Answer: "What would father do?
You know very well that he Looks for every care to me.
There are visits I will pay—
Not just now, but some fine day!"

"Some fine day" that never came.
Year by year the cause the same.
Always putting pleasure by,
Care we needed to supply.
Now, too late, and she has gone,
Trusting us to carry on,
But recalling what she'd say:
We'll go to her, "some fine day!"

STATE CROPS UP AND FRUIT OFF,
IN '47 REPORTS

The combined value of Pennsylvania field and fruit crops produced in 1947, estimated at $364,137,000 is 11 per cent higher than the 1946 value, according to a Federal-State report released by the state Department of Agriculture.

Field crop values alone were 15 per cent above 1946 but fruit values were 29 per cent below. Production on a tonnage basis was five per cent less than last year.

Acres of field crops harvested in 1947 was estimated to be four per cent below the year previous.
Prices received by farmers were higher for all field crops, except barley and timothy seed, but all fruit crops were lower than the 1946 prices.

Freeze Affected Fruit

Fruit—Fall weather was ideal for the harvest of fruit crops. A cool, wet spring with freeze May 8-10 damaged blossoms in many localities, especially in the northern areas and in unfavorably located orchards. Apples in commercial areas were a near average crop.
Peaches were of good quality and size, though a few localities suffered heavy losses from brown rot. Pears were a rather light crop, especially in northern counties. Grapes turned out better than expected, but sugar content was less than usual due to the cool, wet season.

Corn—Frequent rains delayed corn planting with some made as late as July 1. Much intended acreage was planted to buckwheat or soybeans, retained for hay or left idle.
Excessive moisture west of the mountains retarded growth. Frosts during late September damaged many immature crops where silo filling had been delayed. A hot and dry October aided crops in the principal "corn-for-grain" areas.
Production totaled 57,460,000 bushels compared with 59,340,000 in 1946.

New Potato Record

Wheat—The excellent start due to favorable growing conditions in the fall of 1946, followed by a cool, wet spring was very favorable for development of the winter wheat crop. Winter-kill was not severe despite inadequate and spotty snow cover. Rains in some localities during the harvest caused some grain to spoil in the fields. Production totaled 22,296,000 bushels compared with 19,912,999 in 1946.

Other grains—Much of the oats was planted late and yielded poorly.
A few excellent yields were secured from early planted crops. Too much moisture in poorly drained fields caused some failures or lowered yields. Barley, like wheat and rye, benefited by the favorable conditions prevailing during the fall of 1946.
Rye fields were above average. An unfavorable spring retarding corn and oats planting resulted in increased seedlings of buckwheat.

Potatoes—The yield per acre for the potato crop established a new record high at 165 bushels. Spraying was quite difficult and some blight damage occurred in a few localities.

FARM CALENDAR

Kill Orchard Mice—Where mice have established runways under bait stations in the orchard, poison bait can be placed in these paths and the supply replenished as needed.
Killing of the mice will prevent injury to tree trunks and roots.

Clean Tile Outlets—Clogged drainage outlets prevent the tile system from serving its purpose, backing up the water, damaging crops, and even souring the soil. J. R. Haswell, extension agricultural engineer of the Pennsylvania State college, urges cleaning of the outlets whenever needed.

Cull Poor Cows—Because of the scarcity and high price of feed, R.
H. Olmstead, extension dairy specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, recommends culling poor producers out of the dairy herd and feeding grain to the remaining cows according to production. Grain should not be wasted.

Eggs Need Care—Keep eggs at a temperature of 40 to 55 degrees and at about 75 per cent relative humidity, says F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. Egg cages should absorb some moisture before use and the eggs should be packed daily.

In the past ten years American risen from about 33 pounds to about per capita annual use of textiles has 45 pounds.

YOUTH ADMITS KILLING GIRL, 8, ON NEW YEAR'S

Baltimore, Jan. 14 (AP)—A slender filling station attendant who likes to play the trumpet told Baltimore police on Monday he killed eight-year-old Sheila Ann Tukey with a kitchen knife in Cleveland New Year's Day when she resisted, his advances.

"She began to scream and I lost my head," Harold Beach, Jr., 23, recounted in a police headquarters room filled with detectives and newspapermen.

The little girl's body, the dress torn and covered with blood, was found on a neighbor's porch, less than a block from her house.

She had disappeared earlier in the day while on her way to a drugstore to get cigarettes for her father, Edward J. Tukey.

Has Brief Hearing

In a brief appearance before Magistrate James Ellis, Jr., this morning, Beach nodded his head silently in the affirmative when asked if he would agree to return to Cleveland "to face a charge of murder."

Magistrate Ellis then postponed the hearing, a formality designed to permit Cleveland officers to seek a waiver in criminal court which would enable them to return Beach to Cleveland later today.

Captain of Detectives Henry J. Kriss said Beach, a bespectacled 140-pounder who stands five feet four, was arrested yesterday while changing a tire at a filling station where he had worked since coming to Baltimore Saturday.

He went over his story with Kriss, other police officials and newsmen last night. He smiled a great deal and once or twice laughed out loud at questions put to him.

Scotched at Death

Asked if he understood what he had done, Beach shrugged his shoulders, grinned wryly and replied: "The most I can get is death—so what?"

Tukey, a 34-year-old machinist, said in Cleveland when told that Beach had confessed:

"If it is at all possible, I want to witness his execution. . . . Several days ago I was quoted in the papers as saying that I hoped the individual who killed my child died as horrible a death as she did. If this man is the killer, that still goes."

URGING LONGER CROP ROTATION

That Pennsylvania farmers should use longer rotations, strip cropping, and contour planting is reflected in results of a six-year series of experiments conducted at the Pennsylvania State college. These erosion studies show the need for longer rotations involving more hay and grass crops, and either strip cropping or contour planting for grain and cultivated crops.

Both water and soil losses were studied in the co-operative project of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station and the Soil Conservation Service. Soil losses for corn were found to be most critical during August and September, after the corn has completed its growth and cultivation has ceased. This indicates need for adequate cover crops. With oats, most soil was lost in the first month of growth.

Water losses were found to be high during midsummer when corn, oats, and wheat are grown, but the peak is reached in March of every year. This peak is caused largely by melting snow and ice in late winter and early spring, the studies showed.

Rainfall during spring and summer months is greater than in fall and winter, it was found. Crops, therefore, do not suffer so much from lack of rainfall as from the inability of the soil to catch and hold moisture. This was attributed to the more intense rains during the summer and to unfavorable physical condition of the soil.

In addition to measuring soil and water losses over the six-year period, the study also included soil rebuilding, strip cropping with typical Pennsylvania crops, tillage analysis, and contour cultivation.

When the pilgrims landed in New England, they did not know how to build log cabins. Instead they built bark huts.

Compared with the 1,100 species of trees native to the United States, England has only 29, France, 34 and Germany 60.

WIDE VARIETY OF FARM TOPICS AT STATE SHOW

Pennsylvania's state Farm Show, which is attracting hundreds of people from all over the state, has already won prizes in various exhibits, is providing a little of everything concerning farm life.

In addition to the thousands of entries in contests, the show is also providing discussions on everything from what parents should do to help their youngsters keep happier down on the farm to what the farmer should do to increase the productivity of his land.

Governor James H. Duff, officially opening the show, urged expansion of state research work to make every phase of farming more attractive and profitable. The governor pointed out that while the ratio of farm population has declined from 13.7 per cent of the population in 1900 to 9.2 per cent today, "production has increased and today Pennsylvania ranks second only to Texas in rural population."

Hear Soil Experts

With 31 state-wide agricultural organizations meeting in connection with the Farm Show, the speakers are providing something of interest to everyone.

Vegetable growers were told to avoid hard plow soles and to supply minor nutrients where needed in an address by Maurice Lockwood, president of the National Fertilizer Association. He suggested use of special tillage tools to break up hardpan and growing of deep-rooted legumes in rotations to let water and air into soils.

At the same time Prof. J. W. White told the state Crop Improvement Association that Pennsylvania farmers should use at least 2½ million tons of lime each year instead of the 1½ million tons used last year. He cited experiments on the Jordan soil fertility plots at state college, where lime value tests have been going on since 1882 to prove his contention of the need for more and more lime.

Sociologist Speaks

"No orchard can be maintained at a level of production unless the soil also is at a high level of fertility, well supplied with organic matter, with surface permeable to the rainfall, and internal structure that permits deep penetration of air and water and with essential nutrient element low enough to check growth."

That was the opinion expressed by Dr. R. D. Anthony at the State Horticultural Association meeting. He discussed the work of State College research in connection with apple, peach and cherry orchards.

Robert A. McCall, extension rural sociologist of State College, told the Society of Farm Women that "living in a changing world, rural young people need different recreational activities than their parents and grandparents enjoyed." He claimed there has been too much thought given to ways to get young people together for social recreation and too little thought given to what they should do after they got together.

Suggest Corn Contest

An annual corn yield contest for Pennsylvania farmers was suggested by Dr. H. R. Albrecht, head of the agronomy department at Pennsylvania State college in a talk given to the Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association. Such a contest, he added, would speed the latest findings of research studies into practical applications.

Mrs. Roy C. F. Weagly, Hagerstown, Md., president of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told the state society of farm women that "Rural women must have something to say about coming changes in the new atomic world and make themselves heard in international relations. One of the faults of women's organizations in the past has been failure to act," she added, "We have studied a great deal but have been reluctant to take action. Study is necessary but study without action is like faith without works."

The annual exposition of the Northeastern Poultry Producers council, covering poultry industries in 13 states will be held at the State Farm show buildings September 14, 15 and 16, it was announced at the state poultry convention. Invitations from State Poultry President Roy Heckenluber, of near Arendtsville, together with invitations from state officials, led to the decision of the northeastern council to meet at Harrisburg.

TOMATO SPRAY PROVES WORTH

Tomato growers who in 1947 followed spray recommendations of the Agricultural Extension Service generally reported top yields, while comparatively few of those who neglected to spray were able to harvest a crop, reports Dr. R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State college.

Dr. Kirby cites the case of one grower who learned a rather expensive lesson for neglecting to spray for blight control in 1946 with the result he lost his entire commercial canning crop. In 1947, the same grower followed spray schedules for blight control and harvested up to 16 tons per acre for a per-acre income of $400.

Of 442 10-ton tomato growers who turned in complete spray, yield, and grade records, only eight, or less than two per cent, reported they had neither dusted nor sprayed. A total of 162 growers who sprayed 1 to 4 times for a 3.3 average produced 12.3 tons per acre, 71.9 per cent of them No. 1's. The eight non-spraying growers averaged 10.7 tons, but only 66.2 per cent of these were top grade.

Another 127 growers, who put on the recommended number of sprays—five—did even better, averaging 13.3 tons per acre, 74.3 per cent top grade. The best performance was by 145 growers who made 6 to 9 short course in dairy farming, January 30, to February 27, and suggests that where possible this work be taken as a preliminary to the DHIA study.

spray applications—an average of 6.5—and harvested 14.2 tons per acre, 75.5 per cent of them No. 1's.

Of the 434 growers who sprayed or dusted, 306 or 71 per cent sprayed; 5 per cent applied both sprays and dusts, and 24 per cent used dusts only. About 45 tomato spray rings were in operation. Fifty-six per cent applied Zerlate or Karbam and additional sprays of fixed copper or Bordeaux, and had the best yields. Row crop sprayers proved more effective than orchard guns.

building Monday.

Dr. A. W. Ferguson, superintendent of schools, ordered classes for the 148 pupils suspended until safety of the building is checked.

Fire Chief L. Ellis Wagner said the school janitor, Charles G. Krout, discovered a glass panel of the main door of the building smashed and several class rooms ransacked when he reported for work.

It was almost an hour later when he detected smoke and traced it to the basement in which stationery and school supplies are kept.
